

Richland Creek Watershed Alliance
PO Box 92016
Nashville, Tennessee 37209

Printed on 35% Post Consumer Waste

>> FIRST RCWA EARTH DAY CELEBRATION PROJECT

In collaboration with METRO's Adopt-a-Stream program and MWS Watershed NPDES division, a clean-up of abusive dumping and neglect along Richland Creek at Charlotte Pike is planned for Friday, April 20, 2007. (photos above of area to be cleaned)

A warm thank you to Actus Lend Lease for their environmental stewardship, and sponsorship of RCWA's first Earth Day Celebration Project.

>> RCWA COUNCIL

Monette Rebecca, B.S., is an Environmental Scientist and resident of Sylvan Park (near Richland Creek). As a new comer to the area, she observed several urban conditions affecting both the water quality and ecology of Richland Creek. Water resource sustainability has been her education and research emphasis.

Tammy Roth, PhD, is a psychotherapist focused on holistic health education. She and her husband have lived in Sylvan Park for 10 years, drawn to the diverse urban neighborhood and natural surroundings along Richland Creek.

Cate Myer, has been a resident of Sylvan Park for 12 years. Cate is a musician and mother to two young boys.

For inquiries about participation contact RCWA:
monetter@comcast.net

RCWA RICHLAND CREEK WATERSHED ALLIANCE

an organization created to promote environmental sustainability within the community and it's watershed.

"The world has no more fresh water than it did 2,000 years ago, when the population was less than 3% of its present size."

- Earth Island Journal,
"Water Wars, Water Cures", Spring 2000

